

Animator Job Description

- Reading storylines and scripts to gain good understanding of animation requirements
- Preparing presentations with raw designs to customers or clients
- Creating storyboards for the initial stages of production
- Merging images with background graphics and special effects
- Taking an active part in the editing process
- Overseeing and directing the work of animation assistants
- Working cooperatively with production crew such as designers, directors, and so on
- Managing projects efficiently and also ensuring that all deadlines and expectations are met
- Developing comprehension of human and nonhuman motion and expression
- Utilizing specialized computer generation software such as Maya, Flash, and After Effects
- Meeting with clients and negotiating contracts.