

Developer Graphic Designer Job Description

- Working closely and/or cooperatively with other developers to ensure that front-end and back-end elements are integrated and working together as expected.
- Designing and placing elements such as logos, images, textual elements, and several other elements on a webpage.
- Creating mockups and wireframes with the use of appropriate and relevant image editing software.
- Liaising and meeting directly with clients to discuss and determine website specifications and requirements.
- Testing websites for usability and ensuring that page elements are present, functional, and responsive.
- Staying up to date with the latest graphic design and web development trends.